

C A S T E

Symbol of the Spirit of Regina Ellen Hendrickson
Reader Irene Carter

The Prospective Reginaite. Orpha Omstead
Homesick Girl Joyce Cummins
Sunshine Friend Gloria Poole
Pals Wylodine Nelson, Cherie Scoles, Pat Jones,
Lois Mathe, Gloria Poole, Kathleen Stevens

Reginaites preparing for a banquet Kathleen Kimball, Ruth Hansen
The Sweet Girl Graduate Lillian Komarniski
Reginaite packing for home Lois Crooker
The Bride Ellen Adams
Bridesmaids Jeanette Schwartz, Irene Carson,
Shirley Garner, Pearl Thompson

Flower Girl Darlene Peck
The Mother Winifred Smith
Children Colene Schwartz, Maxine von Pohle
The Teacher Barbara Nordyke
Dunce Jeannette Schwartz
Teacher's Pet Betty Mundy
School Girls Vesta Loonstrom, Caroline Harding, Marion Kent
Margaret Reith, Beverly Wortman

Missionary Doctor Louise Van Dyke
Missionary Nurse Beth Rasmussen
Indian Women Eloise Carter, Elda Mae Oliver
Miss Proper Della Brown
Miss Careless Donna Jean Spillman
Registrar. Genevieve Gyes
Mother bringing daughter to Regina Marjorie Burton
Daughter Hazel Jones

Regina Ensemble -- B. Mercill, M. Reith, L. Reith, V. Houghton,
J. Munroe, M. Scott, J. Flahout, M. Jenkins, P. Cole, D. Spillman,
E. Turner, G. Poole, D. Newell, V. Mathisen, J. Bergman.

Director Mrs. Vernon von Pohle
Musical Director Mr. Harold Mitzelfelt
Accompanist Mrs. Tola Gish
Organist Mrs. C. Witzel
Costumes Mrs. G. Indergard

S P I R I T O F R E G I N A

This is the story of the Spirit of Regina - that Spirit of Happiness and service which like a light begins in the heart and then grows and grows until its brilliance fills the lives of those who possess it. Let us go with these many Regina-ites as they live together in Regina Hall and then scatter to their many duties over all the world.

Scene I

Something happens to the children's hour back home when the first of the children leaves the home nest to go away to school. Our prospective Regina-ite has spent hours planning and packing the things she will need in Regina Hall. As she enters her room it looks drab and bare. Soon, however she has her room looking like home and the Spirit of Regina -that Spirit of Happiness- begins to permeate her heart.

Scene II

Homesick! How it casts a shadow over the loveliness of everything. There is only one desire - to go home. But a little gift from a Sunshine Friend brings comfort and happiness again.

Scene III

A box from home is always welcome. Gladly it is shared with friends, for "happiness shared is happiness multiplied."

Scene IV

It takes hours to prepare for the one big night of the year when the men of Casa Loma entertain with a banquet in the dining room.

Scene V

Within the Spirit of Regina is the fire of Accomplishment which burns brightly in each heart -- the desire to accomplish, not alone for honor and scholarship earned, but for opportunities for service, the key to all happiness. With her head high, eyes forward, facing the future she comes -- the graduate.

Scene VI

With an odd little lump in her throat she packs her trunk. But though she must leave her alma mater the Spirit of Regina shines on in her heart to point ever forward.

Scene VII

The Bride!

Scene VIII

The light which the Spirit of Regina kindles is a perpetual light. The days may be dark, the work may be hard and the way grow weary, but the light shines on for it is a privilege to dedicate ones life to the accomplishing of a great task. The mother reflects the Spirit of Regina as she attends to the countless duties of maintaining a well-kept home. The Spirit of Regina illuminates her heart.

Scene IX

The Spirit of Regina reaches even to the schoolroom where the former Regina-ite moulds the lives of her students. She looks forward to the years when time will reveal the results of the work she has done - when the little things which perplex and annoy will be forgotten in the glory of the accomplishments of the fine men and women she has trained for service and as they go forth their lamps shining with the light which her flame has kindled, she will look with gratitude to the source of her light - the Spirit of Regina. School days, School days --"

Scene X

Next we go to India. Here we find a missionary dispensary. This is another instance of the Light of the Spirit of Regina shining far across the water from the home base. -- The Light of Regina is the Light of Happy Service.

Scene XI

The scene is an office. In the office are two girls. One girl is just an average girl who does not apply herself as she doesn't care about her work. The other girl is a Regina-ite, and in her heart burns the Spirit of Regina. She always does her work well and to the best of her ability. Miss Careless and Miss Proper.

Scene XII

The graduate from Regina Hall always carries with her the Spirit of Regina, and when her daughters are born she promises in her heart that they, too, shall go to the source of the Spirit of Happiness. Finally the hour arrives. Mother returns to her Alma Mater with her daughter who in turn now becomes the Prospective Regina-ite.

AND SO --

We leave the Spirit of Regina. But it does not leave the souls of those who know it best - that army of girls who have come into the doors of Regina Hall, seen its glorious gleam, and gone out again to spread to every part of the world the light in their hearts.

The Spirit of Regina Shines On!

Instrumental Numbers

Its a Hap-Hap, Happy Day and
School Days
Home Sweet Home and Dear Mom
Finiculi, Finicula

In the Garden of Tomorrow
Because
Toyland
Be the Best of Whatever you are
Hanging Gardens (Saxophone Trio)

Jean Munroe, Verdelle
Houghton, Evelyn Turner
Emma Jean Swan
Marie Jenkins, Juanita
Justason, Hazel Jenkins
Beverly Mercill
Verdelle Houghton
Jean Munroe
Janet Flahout
Wylodine Nelson
Evelyn Turner
Alice O'Cain

ca 1946

Script from Program, "Spirit of Regina "

donated Ap. 2, 1995
donor unknown